Box No. III Non-establishment of opinion with regard to novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability

1. The questions whether the claimed invention appears to be novel, to involve an inventive step (to be non-obvious), or to be industrially applicable have not been examined in respect of:

☐ the entire international application,

☒ claims Nos. 31,32

because:

☐ the said international application, or the said claims Nos. relate to the following subject matter which does not require an international preliminary examination (specify):

☒ the description, claims or drawings (indicate particular elements below) or said claims Nos. 31,32 are so unclear that no meaningful opinion could be formed (specify):

see separate sheet

☐ the claims, or said claims Nos. are so inadequately supported by the description that no meaningful opinion could be formed.

☐ no international search report has been established for the said claims Nos.

☐ the nucleotide and/or amino acid sequence listing does not comply with the standard provided for in Annex C of the Administrative Instructions in that:

the written form

☐ has not been furnished

☐ does not comply with the standard

the computer readable form

☐ has not been furnished

☐ does not comply with the standard

☐ the tables related to the nucleotide and/or amino acid sequence listing, if in computer readable form only, do not comply with the technical requirements provided for in Annex C-bis of the Administrative Instructions.

Re Item III

Non-establishment of opinion with regard to novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability

Contrary to the Rule 6.2(a) PCT, claims 31 and 32 rely, in respect of the technical features of the invention, on reference to the drawings and as such, they have not been examined.

Re Item V

Reasoned statement with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

Reference is made to the following document:

D1: EP-A-0 309 776 (PELZER HELMUT) 5 April 1989 (1989-04-05)

The document D1 is regarded as being the closest prior art to the subject-matter of claims 1 and 11 and shows a panel for supporting and protecting a sound insulating fibre media from thermal load. The panel has hollow projections with a tip portion facing in a common direction; each projection further having a base periphery at which adjacent projections are interconnected in a lattice configuration.

The subject-matter of claims 1 and 11 differs from the panel of D1 in that the base peripheries of the hollow projections are interconnected such that apertures are defined between them.

The subject-matter of claims 1 and 11 is therefore new (Article 33(2) PCT).

Although the panel of D1 presents some physical similarities with the panel of the invention, it would have been quite inappropriate to incorporate projections with apertures in D1 for providing protection against thermal loading.

The subject-matter of claims 1 and 11 involves therefore an inventive step (Article 33(3) PCT).

Claims 3 to 7 (dependent on claim 1) and claims 12 and 13, 29 and 30 (dependent on claim 11) also meet the requirements of the PCT with respect to novelty and inventive step.

Any building cladding system incorporating the panel of this invention (claims 6 to 10) is also novel and inventive. (See also Item VIII, Point 2)

Re Item VIII

Certain observations on the international application

The application does not meet the requirements of Article 6 PCT, because claims 1, 11, 14 to 28 are not clear.

Although claims 1 and 11 have been drafted as separate independent claims, they appear to relate effectively to the same subject-matter and to differ from each other only with regard to the definition of the subject-matter for which protection is sought in respect of the terminology used for the features of that subject-matter. The aforementioned claims therefore lack conciseness and as such do not meet the requirements of Article 6 PCT. The panel configuration of figures 1 and 2 corresponds to the terminology of both claims 1 and 11 and no other embodiment has been disclosed.

2.

Claims 14 to 28 depending directly or indirectly to claim 11 refer to features of the intermediate cladding layer and not to features of the panel, while independent claim 11 refers to the panel.
